Please join us on October 17th from 12:30-1:30pm CT to participate in the next HRET Multi-Drug Resistant Organisms (MDRO) webinar. We are pleased to announce that Tom Talbot, MD, MPH, Chief Hospital Epidemiologist for Vanderbilt University Medical Center, will be our featured facilitator of the discussion. We introduced the HRET MDRO Change Package in March of this year and are ready to ramp things up. Dr. Talbot will provide concrete examples of how to take your MDRO prevention program to the next level. Gather your team including infection preventionists, clinical pharmacists, front-line clinicians, physicians, clinical laboratory, and environmental service leaders. There will be something for everyone in this jam-packed session!

Take another look at the HRET MDRO Change Package prior to the session and be sure to register!
